

I support maintaining current restrictions on broadcast ownership within communities. I believe limiting the amount of media outlets a company can own in an area promotes diversity, attention to local issues, and encourages community service by the media owners.